

Workplace Mediation Services

Organisations and individuals suffer when workplace relationships breakdown.

STILL ♦ HR's mediation services offer an effective process to find a resolution acceptable to all.

Registered with the Civil Mediation Council as a Mediation Provider, STILL ♦ HR has three Accredited Workplace Mediators.

Mediation is used to resolve broken workplace relationships.

Facilitated by an impartial mediator, mediation assists individuals or teams in conflict to resolve their disputes by moving toward practical solutions and agreements created and owned by the disputing parties.

Mediation Plus

“ Wish we'd done this a long time ago ”
Project Manager

Sometimes disputes between employees can be deeply ingrained or have been persistent over a long period of time. The investment requirement to resolve such cases goes beyond the usual one-day mediation.

For these tricky, relentless or recurring conflicts STILL ♦ HR offers a 'Mediation Plus' intervention – this includes up to three individual workplace support sessions for each individual followed by the traditional one-day mediation session. Using this approach, the individuals become 'mediation-ready' so the resolutions and voluntary agreements sought are more likely to be reached and, when created, be longer lasting.

Paula Symons

Leye Oladapo

Robert Still

CMC Registered
Mediation Provider
2022

Contact us for a free consultation and to learn how we might support you and your staff in creating a happier workplace

07932 762 448 ♦ robert@stillhr.com ♦ www.stillhr.com